MS. A. 13.1.2

My very dear friend,

I send the sheets of notes you desired me to write upon. I know not whether the Scraps with which I have covered them are such as you desired should appear, but I believe the Sentiments of all will suit you. The book lies untouched & has distressed me — I have at last resolved to take it to England. I will from time to time pop in some pages and in the Spring or Summer of the coming year send it to you with its medley contents.

Accept my best thanks for your very kind letter — will you not often write to me in England. It would indeed be refreshing to receive from you a budget of news now and then.

It is within an hour of the time fixed for being on board the Elizabeth
